After questioning all concerned our primary finding is that the horse drawn 14 was very fractious and reared up at least a couple of time which may have cause the gates 13 & 14 to malfunction. The Starter was further questioned about the horse drawn 12 the starter accidentally admitted his mistake and stated that he had informed the handlers of the horses drawn 12 not leave it but the end or remove the blind till the end. However, as the horses were playing up he missed out and inadvertently gave a start. He once again apologized mistake again.
